Activities

The Adytum staff has been publishing yearbooks full of memories since 1888. Each of these yearbooks takes a tremendous amount of time and effort to create, whether accomplished by pen and paper, typewriter, or computer. Looking back in history, through the yearbook we can see that today's campus shares many common threads with the campus of previous years. There is still a Denisonian, still sports, and still students obtaining quality educations. This year's staff wishes to thank these previous students for their hardwork in creating what today is a reputation for quality at Denison.

Being a member of Denison's main community service group is more than just work. It's also a chance to be with friends, make people feel good, and have a lot of fun. DCA is a group dedicated to changing things for the better, and has many students involved in activities such as the Licking River Round-up, the Fall Clean-up, and Habitat for Humanity. DCA also sponsors several other community service groups. Above, members of DCA show their pride in the Homecoming Parade.

How to Clean up Licking River

Step 1: Get into a canoe with a friend and paddle down Licking River.

Step 2: Get wet, muddy, and fish out the tires.

Step 3: Show off your big "catch" of the day.

Hospice is another one of DCA's many projects. Volunteers help to provide comfort to terminally ill patients either at Licking Memorial Hospital or the patient's home, and do other volunteer work around the hospital as well. Above, Denison students Miranda Keeton, Roxann Sebest, Shannon Gideon, Clay Sellers, Yoshiki Ono, and Gayle Nadorff pose for a picture at Hospice's annual fundraiser, "Light Up a Life," where people can remember their loved ones by writing their name on a white dove and hanging it from a tree.

Honors Program

The Honors Program at Denison exemplifies the commitment of the college to exceptional intellectual work by its faculty and students and is specially designed for outstanding students at the college. The program provides seminars and courses intended to meet the intellectual aspirations and expectations of highly motivated and talented students. The Director of the Honors Program and Honors faculty advisers work closely with participants as they make their seminar selections over the course of their four years at Denison. Regularly scheduled symposia, honors activities, and extracurricular events complement the seminar offerings. Additionally, Honors students can take advantage of a number of scholarly opportunities open to all high-achieving students at Denison.

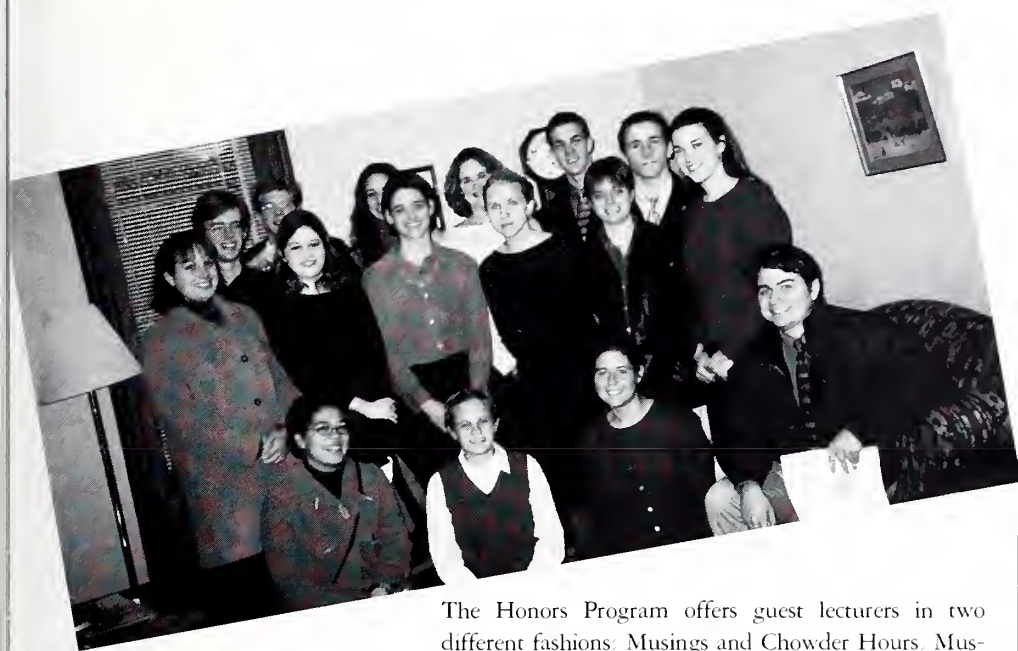

Each year ten students are selected to live in Gilpatrick House, the headquarters for the Honors Program. These students take a very active involvement in organizing activities and events. They each exemplify the qualities of a Denison Honors student. The 2000-2001 Gilpatrick residents were Jimmy Clawson - Gilpatrick Fellow, Chris Bungard, Melissa Cavanagh, Heather Noss, Sarah Borron, Brittany Gagne, Mike Haudenschild, Steve Norris, Sarah Meyers, and Sarah Mausser

Right: Students participate in a number of Activities throughout the year. Here, Honors students focus on the art of poster making.

The Honors Program offers guest lecturers in two different fashions: Musings and Chowder Hours. Musings are up-close-and-personal talks on a specified topic where students are as much involved in learning as the speaker is in teaching. Chowder Hours consist of a soup and salad meal, followed by a speaker. Both are worthy of one's time.

The people behind the Honors Program:

Anthony Lisska has been the Director of the Honors Program since its revitalization in 1987. He is a professor of Philosophy and has served as Dean of the College. Dr. Lisska teaches courses in Greek and Medieval Philosophy and the Philosophy of Law.

Garrett Jacobsen is the Assistant Director of the Honors Program. He is an associate professor of Classics and has taught a number of Honors seminars.

Cookie Sunkle is the Assistant to the Director of the Honors Program. With the program since 1988, Cookie also oversees the mentor program for first-year Honors students and assists with the processing of post-Denison fellowship applications.

ony Lisska reprises his role as Santa Claus at the Honors Program Christmas party.

The Honors Program sponsors many community and social events throughout the year. Pictured here are some Honors students taking part in a community dog wash. I feel sorry for the dog.

The Denison Hilltoppers boasted an extremely successful year beginning with the annual East Quad concert to welcome freshman girls to campus. The fall brought a competitive year for tryouts, an array of parties and concerts, and many trips to Doane Library for Buddy Kitty. The group was honored to be invited to the Ohio Medical Association's Annual Connvention in Lima and they performed wonderfully after a true gourmet meal. Spring semester brought an amazing HAC Weekend, reunion of Hilltoppers of the past. The weekend was a blur of harmonious melodies, amusing stories, and brotherhood. The group traveled overseas in May as the Hilltoppers performed on the island of Madeira for two weekes. They were guests of the Portuguese government. The group performed multiple concerts during the trip, but four large performances were held in concert halls throughout the island.

The group arranges and performs a wide variety of music. This year, Ladies Night Out has performed both on-campus and in the surrounding community. The group has a new CD out called "Movin' On."

Denison has a great squad and they should be proud of their accomplishments. Cheerleading is definately a lot of work as well as a time-consuming activity, but the cheerleaders refused to give it up.

Outing Club

The Outing Club Executive Committee is made up of Andrew Suchocki, Nate Reid, Christ Dangler, and Brad Halm. A number of Denison students have taken part in the organizations activities this year.

Top: Members of the Outing Club pose in front of a gorgeous view. The lake and mountain show the splendor of nature. If only the students would get out of the way.

Bottom Left: They have finally reached the top. It can only be imagined how hard, yet fun, their journey must have been.

Bottom Right: The Outing Club's mode of transportation apparently broke down. Have these students made it back to Denison yet?

The Outing Club plans weekend to week-long outdoor expeditions to destinations all over the United States. They endeavor to foster student interests in the outdoors and outdoor recreation. The club owns a plethora of outdoor gear to outfit nearly any size of expedition. This year's trips include: backpacking to Southeast Ohio, rafting trip on the Upper Gauley River in West Virginia, canoeing trip to Southeast Ohio, backpacking trip to the Smokey Mountains in North Carolina, backpacking to the Superstition and Mazatzal Wilderness areas in central Arizona, mountain biking in Moab, Utah, and caving trip to Mammoth Cave in Kentucky.

Crew Club

The Denison University Crew Club, reestablished last year, is composed of some 85 dedicated rowers. With most rowers having had no experience in high school, the team has done a remarkable job of creating powerful and successful rowers. They stroked their way to success and medalled at every regatta in which they participated. The team traveled to Pittsburgh, Dayton, Columbus, and Atlanta to compete in their regattas. The Head of the Hooch in Georgia was a fantastic trip and the men's team captured a bronze medal in what was the third largest regatta in the nation.

Denison University Recycling Program

Despite some initial start-up troubles, DURP has had a highly productive year to date. In addition to overseeing and providing physical labor for all collection and sorting of recyclable materials from Denison's campus, DURP has also expanded its collection of the paper waste stream, performed a number of educational activities, and assisted other organizations in areas of environmental activism. An early semester couch sale involved collecting discarded furniture from the last academic year which would ordinarily have gone directly to the landfill, and selling them to students.

A swap box system was set up to encourage the reuse and exchange of personal items that students no longer needed, rather than throwing them away. DURP helped organize successful on-campus petitioning of the National Forest Service to protect federal lands from unsustainable logging, and of Staples office stores to eliminate their sales of paper produced from rainforest wood. With the assistance of Recycling Coordinator Frederick Learey, Durp expanded its pilot paper collection system to several academic buildings and established paper recycling programs in Fellows and Slayter. DURP also organized a campus recycling week around National Recycling Day and assisted in bringing Steve Trash, an environmentally-sound magician, to campus.

Denison University Chess Club

A night of chess tournament matches in the Slayer Pit

The Denison Chess Club was founded this school year and the group has experienced tremendous success. The chess club offers a chance for beginners and advanced chess wizards to come together and play a friendly intellectual match. The club matches beginning players with experienced player so that the beginner learns the basics of chess. Through continued games, the player becomes more experienced and gets closer to mastering the game of chess. A tournament was held at the end of the year and it proved to be a hit. The club looks forward to expanding in the coming year.

The Denison Dance Team performs at most of the men's and women's home basketball games. This year they were excited with the amount of participation from the Denison campus - the group was the biggest team since their start two years ago. They had some great new members and some really original routines. The Dance Team looks forward to another successful season next year.

Blank Canvas was formed this year in an attempt to gather more support and recognition for the arts at Denison. The art club prior failed to accomplish anything for a few years and a change was needed so the Blank Canvas was born. Through the school year, the group promotes the arts by holding mural contests, art shows, volunteering at local centers, and a variety of other activities that are soon to come. The art club also goes on trips to museums and art shows.

The Denisonian

The Denisonian is a weekly newspaper at Denison. Established in 1857 (Denison's oldest student organization), the paper has been publishing story upon story through the hardwork and dedication of its writers and editors. This year, the Society of Professional Journalists ranked the Denisonian second among weekly college newspapers in the Midwest. Whether through the news, sports, or A&E sections, the Denisonian knows what is going on. The group is lead by Lachelle Seymour and Manda Alexander, News Editors, Jeff Langner, Editor-in-Chief, Jason Shuba, Forum Editor, Jenny Soares and Emily Trunkely, Inside Story Editors, Meredith Rieder, Sports Editor, and Jeremy Miller, A&E Editor.

La Fuerza Latina

La Fuerza Latina is a latino student organization designed to enrich the academic, social, and cultural experience for Hispanic/Latino students at Denison University, as well as the general student body.

The group gathered for an activity.

Campus Crusade for Christ

Campus Crusade for Christ is a student-lead, interdenominational Christian fellowship on Denison's campus that seeks to meet the spiritual needs of Denison students. The weekly meeting of CCC is held on Tuesday nights at 8:00PM in Slayter Auditorium. Here, students can enjoy fellowship with others, sing praise songs, and hear various speakers give talks on issues that are relevant to the spiritual lives of college students. Campus Crusade for Christ also provides small group Bible studies, prayer groups, and weekend social events for students; CCC is consistently involved in community services projects and outreaches. This year, CCC participated in the World Vision 24 hour famine relief effort; it also brought Christian Band "24 Idaho" to campus; and CCC brought Dr. Edwin Yamauchi, a professor of History at the University of Miami (OH), to Denison to give a lecture on the historical evidence for the resurrection of Christ.

Thus far, four Denison women have competed in a match against Miami of Ohio. Although we did not win, it was a large step in the right direction to forming a successful and competitive team.

Peer Advisory Network

The Peer Advisory Network is a student organization that promotes healthy choices on campus. PAN sponsors programs throughout the year that educate students on issues like alcohol, smoking, and sex. These programs include Sex Jeopardy, The Red Ribbon Campaign, and Diet Pills and Exercise. In addition, PAN does skits at August Orientation and recently introduced the highly anticipated and successful Thank Tank.

MoYO is a loose affiliation of writers and editors that gather once a semester in a small, well-lit room with noisy air circulation and put together what might, in some circles, be called a magazine. Do not let the public display of innocence fool you. The people in MoYO know the influence that media yields, and they are not afraid to use it in furthering their own heinous plans. Above all, though, MoYO is an acronym. It stands for words that begin, in sequential order, with the letters "M," "o," "Y," and "O." Also, with a little rolling on our part, the publication makes a great bopper for bopping things that deserve it."

The expressions on the faces of the students illustrate the tension that filled the room in this scene. As the gun is aimed threateningly at the man and woman there is no fear in their eyes, only complete and utter disdain.

As one looks upon this scene from "Hay Fever," the wealth and austerity drip's from the slightest hint of motion made by this actor as he pompously reaches for his precariously placed martini.

Cinema

Jordan Belfi leaps towards the camera down the hill behind Doane in an action packed film produced by cinema majors. The film is to be released for viewing during the Spring Semester of 2001.

What exactly are these students from the 70's doing? There were many theories developed, and the best was: they are splicing film in an attempt to edit in the sound of a clapper to the correct frame in their film.

Cinema

Photo, taken from the portfolio of Adam Lane portrays another aspect of filmmaking, the adding of sound. In this scene student actors Andrew and Jordan Belfi confront one another.

This photo is a high contrast example portraying the film maker Evan Belfi looking through the lens of his camera making adjustments so that the scene will be taped with perfection.

Boyd assists by holding the bounce card in front of the batter, Jordan Belfi. At the time this picture was submitted, the film was to be entitled "Peace and Love," but it is still a work in progress and changes are expected.

Bandersnatch

April 26

As opposed to working all day indoors this student takes advantage of the great light and beautiful weather by working on his newest piece on Cleveland Hall's balcony.

Winter Reiser works on her sculpture in the basement of Cleveland Hall. If you look closely, her sculpture is actually a direct mold of her face. It is kind of frightening to see the entire classes busts sitting on the storage shelf.

Studio Art

lines fast approach students rush to finish their pieces in time to critique them in class. This student works diligently on her newest e.

In this class, students are assigned to find interesting photos, or magazine clippings that they will then reproduce on canvas.

picture, Denison art students from the 1970's concentrate intently on the task at hand as the instructor demonstrates methods for successfully a print.

Music

Are these really Denison Students? Yes they are, only they are students from the past. It is the gospel choir assembled for a concert in the 1970's.

Dr. Nelson Harper's beginning group piano class listens intently hoping to improve their musical talent. Senior, Will Kruger, concentrates on the professor's instruction at the blackboard.

Freshman, Katie Breese, practices a new piece with her private violin professor. He is playing along with her in order to work out the kinks in her upcoming recital.

Music

photo, senior Todd Defeo, practices for an upcoming recital. Though not a music major at Denison, he is an avid participant in the ment and has had numerous recitals throughout his Denison career.

more, Kristin Boyd, smiles as she is caught on film by the yearbook rapher in the practice rooms that fill the basement of Burton Hall.

This Denison student is modelling his talent on the balcony halfway down the hill to the arts buildings. He is a tuba player who graduated in the 1970's.

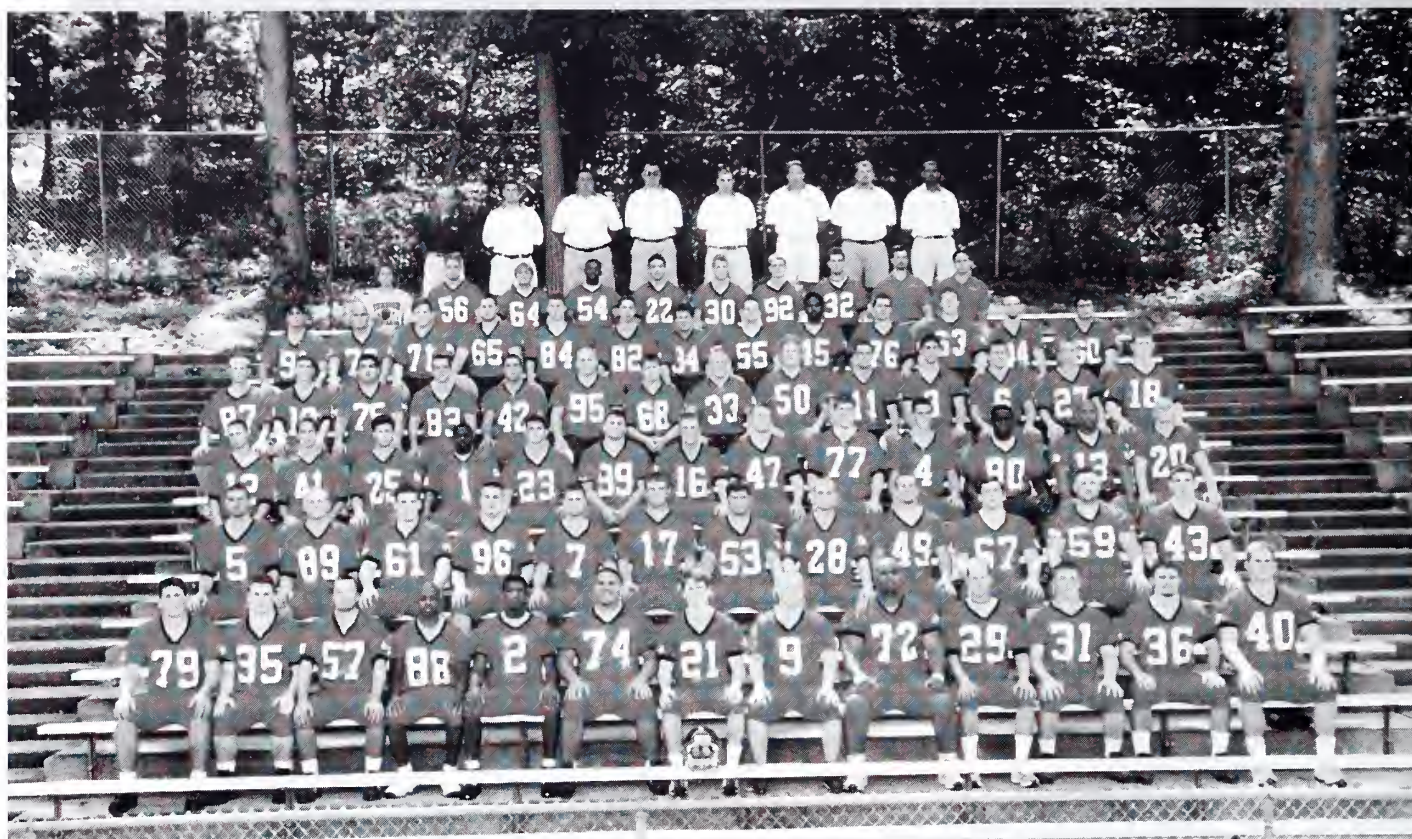

Sports

It has been a very successful year for many of Denison's athletic teams. Big Red obtained six North Coast Athletic Conference titles in women's cross-country, women's indoor track and field, women's lacrosse, women's softball, women's field hockey, and last but not least, men's tennis. In addition, the women of Denison's swimming and diving team earned Denison's first-ever NCAA title!

Today's expansive Mitchell Center was a one room gymnasium in the early 1900s.

Greek Life

Denison's Greek Community gathers at the Gregory Pool for Delta Gamma's annual Anchor Splash. The event benefits Delta Gamma's philanthropy, Service for Sight.

Years ago, fraternity members would celebrate the pinning of a fellow brother's girlfriend by serenading her outside her dorm room window. I wonder how the traditional serenade evolved into what it has become today?

Honoraries

Susan Lynn Bettcher

In the past four years you have given new meaning to the phrase, "scholar-athlete." On the basis of your stellar academic record, you have been inducted as a member of Phi Beta Kappa and nominated by Denison for the NCAA postgraduate scholarship. You have blended your biology major with your athletic interests by writing an honor thesis on education as a means of reduction of iron-deficiency anemia in collegiate women cross-country runners. On the basis of your campus leadership roles you have been selected this year for the Dean's Distinguished Leadership Award. At the same time you have played a truly starring role in indoor and outdoor track competition, accumulating an outstanding list of credentials: four-year letter winner, two-year team captain, GTE Academic All-District First Team, GTE Academic All-National Second Team, First Team All-Conference, Distance Medley Denison Record holder - and, most impressively, you have been on seven NCAC Conference Championship teams, smashing an earlier Denison record. Next year you will begin medical school at your choice of the many fine schools that have accepted you. As you embark on this new challenge, we hope for you what seems to have been the case on the track in all of the past four years - may the wind be at your back.

Ceara Nicole Flake

Your many letters of nomination cite the multiplicity of arenas in which your star has shone brightly as a Denison student: English/Black Studies double major, intellectual force in the classroom, gifted teacher of writing in the writing center, and eloquent public speaker on behalf of social justice. One professor observes that you have an uncanny ability to penetrate the heart of an issue, and that while it is easy for you to make A's, what is really central for you is the journey through the labyrinth of ideas. Your enthusiasm for good writing resulted in your serving as a tutor in the Denison writing center, where it is said that you were a "central inspiring presence" for two years. And your passion for social justice has led you to speak at countless meetings and public forums, demonstrating that you are a true heir of Dr. Martin Luther King. You played a key role in organizing and participating in our first-ever Martin Luther King Day this semester - a very successful community celebration energized by your many contributions. This was but one of many of your campus activities that led to your receiving the Dean's Distinguished Leadership Award. Despite the best efforts of the English faculty to convince you to go to graduate school and become an English professor, you have chosen to go to law school in order to have a more direct impact on political change. That drive is precisely why on campus you are affectionately known as "Congresswoman Flake." Now you have your choice of four of the finest law schools in the nation. We are truly proud of you, and deeply in your debt for having contributed so very much to our lives in your time here.

Christine Noel Gorman

You have been called by one of your nominators "the quintessential Denison student." By that she meant that you have eagerly claimed every opportunity to excel in the life of the college. You have been a memorable student of biochemistry, intellectually curious and insightful, what one of your professors calls "a true scientist-in-the-making." And you have been described as having "exceptional hands," able to mount a fragile crane fly in such a life-like pose that it challenged the work of professionals. You have presented your work in many forums outside Denison, culminating this past year in your recognition as the Outstanding Junior Chemist by the Columbus Section of the American Chemical Society. At the same time you have received the most glowing plaudits from the staff of residence life and admissions for your dedicated works as head resident, resident advisor, tour guide, telethoner, and featured panelist for admissions overnights, culminating in your Dean's Distinguished Leadership Award. This has led the office of residence life to suggest that, before graduation, they would like to clone you - a prospect you as a biochemist can amply appreciate. We wish you well in your journey to graduate school, with the certain knowledge that you will indeed do your alma mater proud.

Shannon Marie Kishel

One of your writers states that "She is one of those truly rare gems who creates magic in everything she does, and brings a positive energy to every place and situation she inhabits." Environmental Studies major, Phi Society, and Phi Beta Kappa, you exhibit classroom performance that has been compared to that of a graduate student. One professor comments: "Does she always pick up new ideas so quickly? Here I was all set to give her a half-hour lecture on some theoretical perspective, and after two minutes she was synthesizing it back to me in a ways I had never even thought of." You have also been recognized well beyond the Hill. Last year you were awarded the Sara J. Mielke Memorial Award, bestowed by the Ohio Environmental Council to the top student activist in the state. And as everybody in this room knows by now, this past year you accomplished a first at Denison by being named to the First Team of USA Today's All-USA College Academic Team, one of only 20 students in the nation to receive this honor. This award was based on your academic record and on your pioneering project, "Helping Hands: Garden of Hope," in which you worked with troubled Newark teens to create a community organic garden. Under your leadership, young people charged with criminal conduct are now planting and harvesting garden products for the Newark food pantry. One nominator remarks that you have a tremendous amount of leadership, much of it in a way that deflects attention away from yourself, and that the young people in the Garden of Hope gained lifelong hope from you. Both on and off the campus you have contributed so much good to the community, a fact that we are proud of and will always treasure.

Philip David Miller

From your earliest days at Denison you embraced the study of philosophy with an uncommon passion, earning the respect of both faculty and peers. Your academic accomplishments at Denison are wide and deep: recent winner of the national Mellon Scholarship, Phi Beta Kappa, two-time Young Scholar, National Fulbright Scholar, seasoned and dedicated editor of the Denison philosophy journal Episteme, and presenter of papers at four national conferences. One of your teachers writes that you are a “born philosopher,” that your philosophical intuition is as good as he has ever seen in an undergraduate. This fact was driven home last fall when, in the Parents’ Weekend philosophy discussion with students, faculty, and parents, it became clear that the parents mistook you for one of the faculty. You have also been a stalwart in leadership roles and the extracurricular life at the College: staff member at June Orientation, staff coordinator for August Orientation, speaker of the student senate, member of ODK, and a member of the Jazz Ensemble. In recognition of these contributions to campus life you were recently honored with the Dean’s Distinguished Leadership Award. We have been assured that at no point did these higher callings interfere with your standing aficionado of Frank Sinatra and Pokemon. It is crystal clear to anybody who knows you that the success you have enjoyed at Denison is just the start of something big.

Clay Lewis Sellers

One of your nominators says that "I see Clay as having those qualities one hopes for in a students - curiosity, responsibility, sound judgment, integrity, social maturity, and an overall healthy attitude." It is your well-roundedness that is noted by several of your nominators, and it is a well-roundedness with deep roots at every point - academics, leadership roles, and community service. As early as your first year at Denison you were recognized for your work on oysters in the Chesapeake Bay by being named the national winner of the Future Farmers of American Agriscience Award. You were also awarded the America Farmer Degree by that organization, the highest honor is bestows. In the spring of last year you were given the distinctive honor of the Kussmaul Award for community service as a result of your long-term dedicated service as a volunteer Granville fireman and emergency medical technician. At the same time you were recognized for your on-campus activity through the Dean's Distinguished Leadership Award for your community service, and for your roles in Habitat for Humanity, DCA, ODK, and admissions, among others. This past fall you were commissioned into the United States Army, which has awarded you a full scholarship to attend medical school. We wish you the best in your medical and military career, and we know from experience that your past accomplishments are a mere prelude of what is to come.

STUDENT LIFE

AT DENISON

*I don't like reminiscing
Nostalgia is not my forte
I don't spill tears
On yesterday's years
But honesty makes me say
You were a precious
pearl
How I loved to see you shine
You were the perfect girl
And you were mine
For a time
For a time
Just for a time*

Congratulations on your latest achievement!

"Achievement" is the knowledge that you have studied and worked hard and done the best that is in you. "Success" is being praised by others, and that's nice, too, but not as important or satisfying. Always aim for achievement and forget about success.

Your whole family is very proud of you, the "favorite" youngest!

In the years since I have found that my dreams for you aren't always the same As your own, but we have trust in each other.... I've watched you grow and become far more than I could have imagined When I was holding you in my arms...and my pride in you keeps growing too. From the beginning, you have...

Loved a good party,

Enjoyed meeting a pretty girl,

Have always been a great big brother.

Met challenges head-on,

Always loved a nice set of wheels, and

Now that your time at Denison has come to an end, it's time to spread your wings and fly!

Congratulations and good luck. We love you,

Mom, Dad and Debbie

Dear Lauren,

We saw you grow from Holly Hobby to our beautiful ballerina. We witnessed a soccer goalie confront the mud, special moments with Nana, and of course, Tazmania. Then it was off to the jungles of Columbia to help restore smiles to children. High school graduation came all too fast and it was off to a new life at Denison. Now it is off to law school and a promising career in law.

You have always followed your heart and it has always taken you in the right direction.

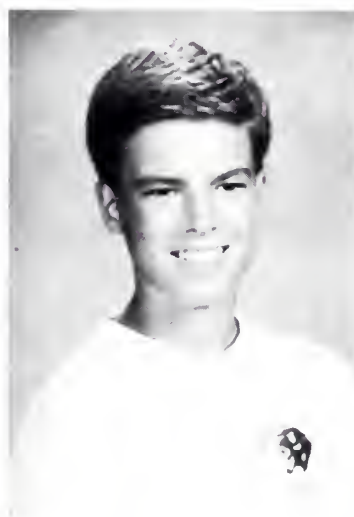

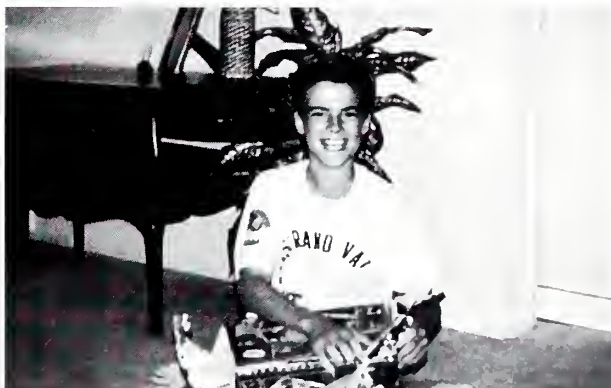

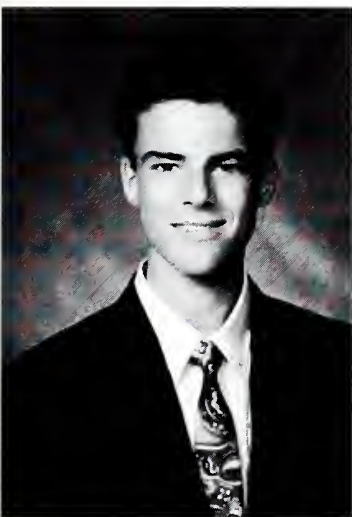

Are we proud of you? You better believe it!

Love, Mom, Dad, Chris and Medley

Spread your wings and follow your dreams
 Wishing you all the best!

The Alma Mater To Denison V.E. Field, 1903

*To Denison we raise our song,
Fair college on the hill,
The name that sets our souls on fire,
And makes our senses thrill.
To Denison, my Denison,
In praise our voices swell,
The scene of happy college days,
The home we love so well.*

*Oh morning glow, which gilds the east,
Oh sun which shines at noon,
Oh stars which bloom at eventide,
Oh radiant glowing moon,
Look from the pathless, azure dome,
Shed blessings from above,
On college halls and college walls,
The Denison we love.*

*And when the shadows softly fall,
O'er hills and valleys dear,
Across the college campus rings,
The melody so clear;
The circling hills throw back again,
The glad inspiring song,
And in our hearts to Denison,
Our praises we prolong,*

*When from the fold we far shall stray,
With our souls no longer young,
We'll ne'er forget our college days,
These happy scenes among;
And when our steps have feeble grown,
Our journey almost done,
E'en then with fleeting breath we'll praise,
Our dear old Denison.*

June, 2001

Dear Readers,

My letter to you will not contain detailed accounts of the responsibilities I had as Editor of Denison's 2001 Adytum. Instead, I would simply like to thank all the individuals who contributed to the production of the yearbook.

I admit that I was very nervous when Courtney Wetzel, the Editor of last year's annual, left me in charge of the Adytum while she studied abroad in France this past semester. Before departing, she repeatedly told me that she knew that I would be able to handle the responsibility. Now six months, and several minor crises later, the book is finally finished. I would like to thank Courtney for giving me the opportunity and encouragement to take on this challenging task. Although it proved to be extremely time consuming, it was a worthwhile experience.

I thoroughly enjoyed working with the members of the yearbook staff. Their hard work and dedication were appreciated, and I look forward to working with them again in future endeavors. I would like to give a special thanks to Lachelle Seymour who came to my rescue on more than one occasion.

With all the major changes that are occurring on campus, we thought it would be interesting to take a look into Denison's past to get a sense of what it was like years ago. Hence the "Now and Then" theme of the 2001 Adytum. However, without the help of Cara Gilgenbach, the University's Archivist, this would not have been possible. Cara provided us with pictures and information about anything and everything pertaining to Denison's past. She proved to be a major asset to the production of the book, and I truly appreciate all of her time and patience.

I would like to extend my gratitude to Alan Swank, our Taylor representative, and Cookie Sunkle, our advisor. Both were an incredible source of support and I turned to them with questions, concerns, problems, and of course, frustrations. They were very understanding throughout the entire process; willing to go to great lengths to lend a helping hand.
